

Biochemistry Seminar Chemistry 7800, Spring 2019

Friday 11:30 AM Widtsoe 330
Instructor: Nicholas Dickenson
Widtsoe 233, 797-0982 nick.dickenson@usu.edu

Course Content: Chemistry 7800 is a graduate seminar series designed to expose new students to current graduate biochemistry research programs in the Department and will give advanced students the opportunity to describe progress in their research projects and to gain experience in giving scientific presentations.

Course Assessment: Chem 7800 is a pass/fail course and students must register for it each Fall and Spring Semester during the first two years of the program. Annual participation in the Departmental section CHEM 7800-001 of the seminar program is mandatory regardless of registration status. No more than 2 missed biochemistry seminars per semester will be allowed (unless approved by the faculty).

Students with ADA-documented physical, sensory, emotional or medical impairments may be eligible for reasonable accommodations. Veterans may also be eligible for services. All accommodations are coordinated through the Disability Resource Center (DRC) in Room 101 of the University Inn, (435)797-2444. Please contact the DRC as early in the semester as possible. Alternate format materials (Braille, large print, digital, or audio) are available with advance notice.

Seminar Schedule

1/11	Intro to Chem7800 format Storyboarding discussion and activity	3/1	Keith Olsen (Research)
1/18	Storyboarding follow-up (Presentations by volunteers)	3/8	Exercise: How to prepare a figure and figure legend
1/25	Kyle Valgardson (Literature)	3/15	Spring Break No Seminar
2/1	Anissa Turley (Research)	3/22	Dylan Keiser (Literature)
2/8	Hannah Taylor (Research)	3/29	Derek Harris (Research)
2/15	Owen Price (Research)	4/5	Hannah Domgaard (Research)
2/22	No Seminar – Attend Graduate Recruiting Poster Session	4/12	Sam Barker (Literature)
		4/19	TBD

*Seminars are 25 min with 5 min for questions and discussion. Various academic exercises will follow most seminars (30 min). Papers for literature presentations must be approved prior to the presenting.